1. Kunming has become a meeting center for Communists of South East Asia. In the busy business district in the city, motor cars may often be seen carrying Communist leaders from Viet Minh, India, Burma, and Siam.
2. Several military and political schools for the training of cadres from South East Asia are also being established at Kunming.
3. A Staff Training Class has been established at Milop'u (112-30, 26-10), Hunan, and on the first course of three months duration, which was due to finish in early September, over 900 students were enrolled.
4. These students were grouped in ten sub-units, and included about 200 Burmese, 150 Siamese, 220 Vietnamese, and about 300 Chinese Senior School graduates recruited by the Chinese Armed Forces.
